Bradwell Silver Band

Making Music for 108 years...

1909 Bradwell Band Co Op Guild Day Tea Party

'Christmas is now upon us bringing with it the sound of festive tills and ringing doorbells as the Band shatters the peace of an evening playing carols around the streets!'

(Robin Allen, The Bradwell Bugle, Newsletter of the Bradwell Silver Band on www.bradwellband.co.uk)

The Bradwell Silver Band was founded on January 15th 1901. Most of the original members lived in the then rural villages of Bradwell and Stantonbury, later renamed Old Bradwell and New Bradwell.

Every Christmas morning since 1901, whatever the weather, Bradwell Silver Band has played Christmas Carols around the streets of New Bradwell from 6.00am. Tradition is that children should not open their presents until after they've heard the Band play in the street!

The current Band, under the musical direction of Brian Keech, is very busy regularly performing at many events and marching at the local carnival and the Remembrance Day parades.
