

Milton Keynes is buzzing with opportunities to learn new things. And great minds agree.

The code-breakers of Bletchley Park brought innovation to our city and contemporary learning continues at the Open University. Environmental brainwaves happen here. We had the world's first solar-powered house and we're playing a vital role in the development of electric transport. Our focus on education fires imaginations of every age. We have great schools, colleges and universities.