

Young Heritage Hunters

My Milton Keynes

Milton Keynes Hospital

Aerial view of Milton Keynes Hospital just after completion

Picture of staff and patient around the hospital opening

This question mark was used to publicise the campaign for Milton Keynes to have a hospital

A new hospital building with a statue

Milton Keynes Hospital

Milton Keynes Hospital kindly welcomes anyone and everyone into their warm loving care. Milton Keynes Hospital opened in April 1984 around 20 years after Milton Keynes itself was built. It is located in Eaglestone.

A campaign built up rapidly in the 1970s, they called it "Milton Keynes Is Dying for a Hospital". Their actions led to the creation of a four-ward community hospital that was built in 1979, 5 years before the construction of the main hospital. The silver anniversary of the hospital was celebrated 3 years ago; it has now been serving and treating people for 28 years.

Milton Keynes Hospital provides a comprehensive range of services to the local population. The vast majority of visits come from the immediate area of Milton Keynes. The hospital has come a long way in a short amount of time. The hospital has a statue outside the main entrance.

By Chloe