Keeping MK moving... by bus

Milton Keynes Council has spent £2 million on bus improvements in the last year and plans to invest more than £3 million in the coming years, to make bus travel more attractive.

New buses have been provided by bus operators on the main routes in Milton Keynes, and these have been branded to help people recognise which bus they need to catch.

In central Milton Keynes, bus users can look forward to better facilities with new, high quality design 'super stops' on Midsummer Boulevard, which have good lighting, CCTV, detailed timetables, seats and Real Time Passenger Information (RTPI) which lets passengers know when buses are due. The stops are also designed to make it easier for people to board buses.
