Deanshanger Village Heritage Society

Deanshanger Past & Present exhibition, May 2009

Few villages can boast two internationally renowned businesses operating from its small community. It was with the closure of the Oxide works, on the site of the former E & H Roberts iron foundry, that the Deanshanger Village Heritage Society was formed in 1999 to preserve and celebrate this history.

Since inauguration its achievements include winning 3 environmental care awards, writing the 'Images of a Village' book, mounting over 20 exhibitions, and most notably re-instating The Feast; a festive gathering on The Green held every October that raises money for local charities.

'We're not just about the past but take pride in our present and look toward the future - doing what we can to improve and benefit the local community'.
