Future World Exhibition

Showing that innovations are still possible

Kents Hill was the home of the Future World Exhibition sponsored by the National House Building Council (NHBC) in 1994, where architects, builders and producers of building products were invited to provide a glimpse of the way homes might operate in the 21st Century.

As with the Home World Exhibition 13 years earlier, the common themes of the exhibition were energy efficiency and conservation of the environment. The properties ranged from shared ownership, housing association properties to near-mansions.
