The Gallery Worker's Tale

"I was the first employee of the first Gallery Director and my role at that stage was Administrator. Being a start-up organisation it was a number of different posts all rolled into one. It was very busy but very exciting.

One of my best memories was when we brought the artists Gilbert and George up to Milton Keynes before it opened, when it was still a construction site. We had a press-call for them in their hard hats.

We have some very amusing photographs of them in their smart suits with their safety hats on."
