

Helmut Jacoby

1926 – 2005

Working in Milton Keynes

In 1968, Helmut Jacoby was commissioned by Milton Keynes Development Corporation to make a series of drawn 'visualisations' from plans produced by the design team.

Jacoby had the ability to show a projected building exactly as it would look once it was built.

These were the pictures which were used to sell the dream of Milton Keynes to its prospective clients – the new citizens of the New City.
