

OUR PLACE MK

Milton Keynes Natural History Society

Hawker Dragonfly

Milton Keynes has had a thriving Natural History Society for over forty years now. We meet weekly on Tuesday evenings. During the summer we have outdoor meetings in various wildlife sites, in and around the city, and in winter we meet at Bradwell Abbey where we have a range of fascinating talks on all manner of natural history subjects.

We are a large friendly group, some are very knowledgeable and others just come along for the love of learning more and spending time in beautiful unspoilt places.

If you are interested in joining us, or just finding out more, our website is www.mknhs.org.uk

