

Picture courtesy of Derek Walker

'If you are creating the iconic City Centre on a plateau, one consideration is the only mark a man can make – a straight line'
 (David Lock, CMK Town Planner 1979-82)

This is the late Helmut Jacoby's 1972 vision – five years before anything was built – of what CMK would be like in 1990. Commissioned by MKDC, he is rated as 'one of the foremost architectural renderers of the 20th century' and 'master of tectonic design (and) of perspective'.

FROM THE BOOK: THE HERITAGE OF MILTON KEYNES

The Story of the original CMK

...told by the people who shaped the initial ideas of Central Milton Keynes

